

A Card.
L. H. GIRARDIN
HAS the pleasure to inform his Patrons, and the Parents and Guardians of youth, in general, that the teacher of the ENGLISH BRANCHES announced in his PROSPECTUS, will be Mr. Francis Power, a gentleman recommended by European characters of high respectability to the venerable Doctor John Carroll, Bishop of Baltimore, and whose conduct, and display of abilities, have uniformly been such as to justify the eulogies of his friends.

In a letter to L. H. Girardin the R. R. Dr. Carroll expresses himself, respecting Mr. Power, in the following terms:
"Mr Power is very respectably connected—his manners & address are highly gentlemanly. Besides, possessing the talents requisite for teaching the branches mentioned in your letter, he has respectable testimonials of his ability to give lessons in the Classics, Greek and Latin, and in the Mathematics. In short, I do not think that you can find in America a person better fitted for the employment, in respect both to character and abilities. One of Mr. Power's qualifications is to speak the French language, &c."

Very satisfactory specimens of Mr. Power's penmanship may be seen upon application to L. H. Girardin, by such Parents and Guardians, as attach to that branch a peculiar value.
In consequence of the above, L. H. Girardin's establishment will, from the first of Sept. next, stand on the following basis:

The Greek, Latin, French and Italian Languages, Geography, Civil and Natural History, and, eventually, the literary and moral course will be taught by L. H. Girardin, occasionally aided by F. Power, in teaching Geography and the ancient Classics.

Natural Philosophy, (Text book, Cavallo) and the Mathematics, comprehending demonstrated Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry (with its various applications to Astronomy, Surveying, and Navigation), Conic Sections, Fluxions, Military Fortification, and Gunnery, by John Wood.

Spelling, Reading, Writing, English Grammar, Rhetoric, Composition, Practical Arithmetic, Book Keeping, &c.—By Francis Power.
Practice of the French Language, viz. Reading, Spelling, and Speaking French—By CHARLES FREEMAN.

It is earnestly hoped that Mr. E. Randolph will carry into execution his intended plan of lecturing either at the Capitol, or in some other convenient place, upon Rhetoric, Law, and, perhaps, Political Economy.

L. H. Girardin has now removed his family to Richmond, with an intention to devote himself more particularly than ever to the instruction of youth. To the female pupils Mrs. Girardin will extend a particular, and, indeed, maternal attention—Young Ladies, may, for a moderate distinct charge, acquire at the Academy, the ornamental arts, such as Landscape, Figure, and Flower drawing, and painting together with Vocal and Instrumental Music. The choice of Masters for those branches shall be entirely left to Parents and Guardians.—It is contemplated speedily to print both the rules and the terms. Copies of the same will be delivered to applicants. Sufficient to promise that the rules shall be rational and mild, yet, such as energetically to promote both intellectual and moral improvement. The primary, the sacred objects of a school shall in no instance be sacrificed to undue considerations.—As to the terms, L. H. Girardin is convinced that they will be found satisfactory, never having observed a reluctance on the part of Parents and Guardians to be just, and even liberal, where abilities, zeal, and system are combined.

The above plan will be carried into operation from the first of September next, at the house lately occupied by Mr. L. Randolph, near the Capitol.
L. H. GIRARDIN.
Richmond, July 26th, 1810.
P. S. Mr. John Wood purposes to have in the evening a private class for those gentlemen whose situation in life may not permit them to attend his lessons, at the Academy.

NOTICE.
NECESSITY compels me to make farther application to all those who are indebted to the trustees of the Richmond Academy, by sales of lottery tickets of the first and second class, and voluntary subscriptions, and all such are hereby requested to make payment to the subscriber to enable the building committee to pay all arrears for work done, and to procure materials this winter in order to proceed with the work next spring, it being for the education of our rising youth, which ornaments and attaches them to republican principles and gives a spring to liberty and independence. I have undertaken the collection by agreement with John Brockendish and William W. Henning, Esqrs. the other members of the committee appointed by a board of trustees. As the building of the Academy has progressed considerably, I flatter myself there will be but little trouble in obtaining the money for the purpose of carrying into effect so laudable an institution.
